

Geo environmental engineering – Witham Based Job Description

We are currently seeking an experienced environmental engineer to join our team. You be degree qualified in an geo-environmental related subject.

The company undertakes various commissions ranging from small local projects to large national developments. Operating in many sectors including residential, healthcare, industrial, education, retail & leisure, commercial and the public sector. The environmental team currently undertake the following work:

- Contaminated land investigations – Phase 1 to final validation;
- Flood risk assessments;
- Infiltration testing;
- Coastal erosion vulnerability assessments;
- Drainage strategies and the design of SuDS compliant drainage solutions;
- Due diligence reviews of 3rd party reports;
- CL:AIRE DoW CoP submissions (excluding QP duties);

The ideal candidate will be an effective communicator, able to work independently and as part of a team. You will preferably have experience of completing one or more of the above areas of work. Your duties will include preparing quotations, undertaking site work, report writing and communicating your findings with other professionals both internally and externally.

You will be responsible for:

- Liaison with clients & regulators;
- Providing fee proposals;
- Undertaking desk based research;
- Undertaking and supervising site investigations.
- Writing reports
- Attendance at meetings

In return we offer a competitive salary, pension and private healthcare with excellent working conditions in a friendly environment and potential for career growth.